

To Valued Customers

As always, our first priority is the health and safety of our staff, agents, clients and visitors to the Southern Livestock Exchange.

With the ever rapidly changing environment we find ourselves, Southern Livestock Exchange has put these new measures in place in light of the announcements made overnight.

1. We ask that People only attend with the intent to buy and or conduct business or are an essential part of the operations on the day.

Essential Attendees - Staff of Saleyards / Agents / Buyers / Transport Carriers

2. PLEASE NOTE: Non essential personnel will not be permitted at the Southern Livestock Exchange on market day.

If you would like to watch, you can do so online via our live streaming at

3. All attendees will be required to sign an attendance list with name, contact number and address. Which will be located out on the veranda.

4. Limited access to the office area before and after market service will be enforced. Preferred method of all correspondents on Market Day will be via email. e.g Buyer information can be requested to be emailed after the market rather than your usual print outs in the office.

5. All attendees are to wash their hands at the wash station every time you pass the wash station.

6. The Canteen will be closed for food service. Coffee and cold drinks will be available with limited access being made available to the canteen area.

7. The auctioneers box will be limited to The auctioneer and penciler at any time the spotter will be placed around the ring.

8. There will be markings on seats to indicate the spacing required for social distancing. We ask that all attendees please maintain appropriate social distancing and good hygiene at all times.

Good hygiene practices can be found at the following link. Australian Government Department of Health

Southern Livestock exchange would like to thank you in advance for your cooperation during this time.
